

THE DAVID LINDSAY FAMILY OF ALABAMA

The First Three Generations

Foreword

In 1927, a new chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was organized in Montevallo, Alabama and named 'David Lindsay' for a Revolutionary soldier buried at, or near, Elliottsville, Alabama. Nothing was known of his service, nothing of his family, nothing of the location of his home or of his final resting place. The National Society seemed to have asked no questions and the chapter had complete confidence in Judge E. S. Lyman who suggested the name. He probably could have answered some of the questions that the members recently have wondered about but not until he was gone.

Five years ago when I was chapter regent, I looked over the Elliottsville Cemetery, found headstones dating back to the 1820's but no Lindsays. Older citizens remembered that there was a town called 'Elliottsville', a store or two, a school, and perhaps a church, but they agreed that if David Lindsay were buried there he lay in an unmarked grave. I then gave up the search. A year ago, however, in the office of the Probate Judge at Columbiana, while listing the wills of Shelby County for indexing, I found the final settlement of David Lindsay's estate, his son John the administrator, and total assets of $5889.43 left to his widow, Mary, and his twelve children or their heirs. This was reported to the chapter with the observation that he was a well-to-do citizen for that day.

In February, 1953, Mr. D. B. Lacey of Maylene sent me an inquiry that was very challenging. For more than two years he had sought to prove that three graves in his family plot seventy-five yards from his front porch were those of Elijah Lindsey, a 'Revolutionary soldier' and his two sons. There had been a picket fence around the graves which were marked with wooden slabs painted white and with black letters, but all had rotted and fallen down. Judge Lyman had told him that a Revolutionary soldier was buried there and he wanted to prove it. The land owned by his father and then by him formerly belonged to Elijah Lindsey and he was certain that one grave was Elijah's -- but was he a soldier of the Revolution? The devotion of this man nearly ninety toward solving this problem, his steady persistence at the task, the urgency of his effort, were very challenging and I was ready to join in the quest.

Miss Maud McLure Kelly of the State Archives and History Department and Genealogical Chairman of the Alabama Society, D. A. R., and Mrs. John Oden Luttrell, State Regent, joined me in the project and we set out 1) to find and mark David Lindsay's grave, and 2) to reconstruct his family for three generations as far as possible. It was soon evident that only David, the father, was the right age to have served in the Revolution, and except for James Lindsey of Marion County -- no proved relationship -- the only Lindsey in Alabama who was a Revolutionary soldier.

At once we found considerable variation in the spelling of names, of surnames especially, as for example, Lindsay, Lindsey, Linsay, Linsey. Usually the historical references to David have spelled his name Lindsay. The chapter has used that spelling, hence the marker on his grave does too. But the large family of descendants write Lindsey and that will be used in this manuscript.

In the ten months we have given to this, we have sought Lindsey material in the D. A. R. Library in Washington, in the National Archives, and in the Virginia State Library. We have checked land records with the Department of Interior, Bureau of Land Management, with the Secretary of State for Alabama, have worked in the State Archives Department, in libraries of the State University and Birmingham, in courthouses of Madison, Coosa, Talladega, Bibb, Tuscaloosa and Shelby Counties. We have examined census, land and church records, and have consulted some genealogists, as well as members of the Lindsey families of later generations. Not one of us is related to this family so for all four it has been 'a labor of love'. To attest the cumulation of our findings it is only necessary to examine the correspondence we hold in our files.

It must be left to the family or to others to find out about David and Mary Lindsey before they came to Alabama. Mainly by census reports it was learned that they lived first in Pennsylvania where Rachel and probably Thomas were born. Then they moved to Virginia, after 1773 and before 1785, the date of their son David's birth. The records show that this father served during the war with the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 6th regiments, Virginia Continental Lines and for three years. There is no evidence that he applied for a pension.

Some time after the war the family moved to Tennessee. Before they left that state their twelfth and youngest child, Rebecca, was born. In Alabama, they lived first in Madison County and then came on to Shelby with others, Elliotts and Hails certainly. The children and their families spread over several counties, buying land, establishing homes and having a prominent part in developing this part of the state. They were active, energetic, valuable citizens of Alabama.

The discovery of other David Lindseys caused a flurry of excitement briefly. One, too old for the Revolution, is supposed to be buried with his wife in Columbiana -- both having lived to be more than 100 -- but we found no trace of this man except claims by kinsmen in other states.

The other two were pensioners -- one from Pennsylvania, by whose service Mrs. George Beranek of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, and her aunt, Mrs. M. B. Kessler of Smethport, Pennsylvania, joined D. A. R. Lively correspondence soon revealed that their ancestor had never left his state, but we had made new friends. The other David Lindsey served in North Carolina, lived and died there as shown by his pension application.

Problems, common no doubt in genealogical research, were puzzling to me in this first effort. Spellings of surnames especially lacked uniformity and were seemingly written according to the ability or whim of the recorder. First names were repeated in various families with no identifying terminology, such as 'junior', or 'son of', to help so that it was common to ask, 'Which David?' 'Which Elijah?' Incomplete records, crumbling manuscripts, faded ink, handwriting hard to decipher, women with no surnames, husbands as heirs of David Lindsay's estate instead of his own daughters -- all this was perplexing to me.

No doubt there are errors in our findings and undoubtedly other Lindseys will be found. But with the celebration on Alabama Day, when the marker for David Lindsay's grave placed by the chapter at Montevallo, will be dedicated with Mr. Daniel Boone Lacey looking on, the work will conclude for the three of us who undertook it. Each of us will keep her own 'resource book' and willingly assist any who may need Lindsey data in the future.

The success of the undertaking must be credited mainly to Mrs. Luttrell and Miss Kelly, both experienced in genealogical research. They contributed not only much material but also guidance as to what I should do next and more especially evaluated and interpreted what I had found. Without them, the project would have failed in the early stages. Without Mr. Lacey's challenge to us the task might not have been begun. Perhaps it took all four of us.

David Lindsay chapter is honored to have had a share in this work and thanks sincerely all those who have brought it to successful completion.

- (1) Inventory, appraisement, and report of sale of the personal estate of Richard Crowson, deceased, dated 6 Nov. 1826, John Crowson, Admr. Among the purchasers were Thomas S. Lindsey, Joseph Hale, Robert Fulton, Thomas Lindsey, David Fulton, and many named Crowson, among them David Crowson.

In the State Department of Archives and History, in a collection of papers known as the James Hugh Blair Hall Papers, Dr. Hall states that in 1906 he spent the night with Mr. Elijah Lindsey Fulton of Saginaw, Alabama, and that Mr. Fulton, Rebecca Lindsey's and David Fulton's son (b. 2-9-1835), supplied much of the information that follows.

"The Linsay Family"

"Mr. Linsay was of English descent. He was in the Revolutionary War. He and his wife came early into Ala. -- say '17 to '20. They settled and lived for a number of years in Shelby Co. He died 6 miles northeast of Montevallo on the Elyton Road and is buried at the Lacey graveyard, 8 miles northeast of Montevallo on the same road. No stone marks the spot. The grave was originally paled in, but the palings have fallen down."

"The story runs that the elder Linsay and Mr. Casey with their families were on the way to Ala. from Va. While on the route the young folks David L. and Mary ("Mollie") courted and were married ere they reached Ala."

He further states that David Lindsey died '35 or '36, and that Mary ("Mollie") Casey died '47 to '50; and that their children were Thomas, Jack, David, Elijah m. Pollie Harrison, Bettie m. Joseph Hail, Lydia m. _____ Canterbury, Rachel m. William Lovelady, and Rebecca m. David Fulton, son of Samuel Fulton -- the last named couple being the parents of Elijah Lindsey Fulton who was helping Dr. Hall at that time -- paper dated August 5, 1906.

This data corroborates the conclusion that the David Lindsey whose estate was finally settled in Shelby County, Alabama, 1842-1844, was this David Lindsey. When the data secured from the various official records, and from the census records are combined, it is seen that David and his wife could not have courted en route from Virginia, since at least one of their children was born prior to the Revolution and in Pennsylvania. So they must have courted en route to Pennsylvania from some where else. That they lived in Virginia is corroborated by the fact that their son David, at least, was born in that state about 1785. The tradition that this David Lindsey fought in the Revolution while living in Virginia is corroborated by the fact that he moved from Pennsylvania to Virginia after 1773 and before 1785, that he was still living there in 1785 and that a David Lindsey served in Virginia in the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 6th Continental Line Regiments. There is no evidence that he applied for a pension for his three years of service. From Virginia, he moved to Tennessee, the place not yet known. According to the census of 1850, Mary was born in that state about 1787. He was still living there when his twelfth child, Rebecca, was born November 17, 1794, according to Mr. Fulton.

When David Lindsey's estate was settled, it was divided between Mary, the widow, and twelve children or their heirs. The daughter who married Richard Crowson, Hulda, and Thomas and Elijah were deceased. Mr. Fulton lists only eight children but his omission of the other four is quite understandable. His aunt, Mrs. Crowson, had died before 1814, leaving twelve children, but they were all grown before Mr. Fulton was born. His uncle James had lived in Coosa County and had died when Mr. Fulton was about nine years old. His aunt Mary Smith had also lived in Coosa County. His uncle Joseph whom Mr. Fulton also omitted married in Madison County in 1815, was listed in the 1820 census of Shelby County but nothing more known of him except that he was living when the estate was settled. Where he lived is not known. M.M.K.

The Hall Papers, containing some inaccuracies based on tradition, have, nevertheless, been valuable in confirming some conclusions previously arrived at.

THOMAS LINDSEY - Born probably about 1771 in Pennsylvania. He appears in the 1809 census of Madison County with one male and one female over 21, four males and two females under 21. (Jones & Gandrud's Alabama Records 80 p.66)

According to Mr. W. F. Franke, Thomas is listed in the 1816 census of Monroe County as having one male and one female over 21, three males and five females under 21; certainly he is listed on the Monroe County, Mississippi Ter. tax list of 1815 as published in the Mississippi Statistical Register of 1918.

He was not listed on the Shelby County census of 1820 and was probably then living in Bibb County, as will be shown hereafter. He appeared in the 1830 census of Shelby County with one male aged 10-15 and one 15-20 and one 50-60 and two females aged 15-20. He was not found in the census of 1840 and his share of his father's estate was divided among William Lindsey, David Lindsey, R (Richard) Lindsey, A (Aaron ?) Lindsey, James Lindsey, Mary Moore, B. Harrison, B. Franklin and Betsey Reynolds as his heirs.

Shelby County Deed Book A-E p. 251 shows a deed made to him on September 5, 1828, by William Baker of Shelby County, in which his residence is given as Bibb County, showing a purchase of land in Shelby County. In the same book, p. 93 Thomas Lindsey of Bibb County sells to Thomas J. David of Shelby County some land in Shelby County. On page 101, there is recorded a patent to Thomas Lindsey from the United States dated April 10, 1824. The tract book of Shelby County also shows patents to Thomas Lindsey of land in Shelby County on January 29, 1821 and February 18, 1822. Mrs. Gandrud sent an item from Bibb County Deed Book A, p. 86, showing Thomas Lindsey and wife, Elizabeth, sold some land in Bibb County to Joshua Davis on 18 June, 1828.

Elizabeth was, therefore, dead by 1830 and Thomas by 1840 and Thomas was born 1770-1780. From the number of children by 1809, from the ages so far found in the census of 1850, and from the known facts about the other children, Thomas must have been the first child born to David and Mary Lindsey -- and he is named first both in the distribution and in the list as compiled by Mr. Fulton.

Rachel Lindsey - One of the distributees of David Lindsey's estate, listed as a full heir, was William Lovelady. According to Mr. Fulton, he was the husband of David Lindsey's daughter, Rachel, a fact that is amply corroborated. William Lovelady's will, dated 31 December 1845, admitted to probate 30 January, 1847, names his "beloved wife, Rachel" etc. See Will

The census of 1850 lists Rachel Lovelady as aged 77, born in Pennsylvania, living with Henry Lovelady, aged 50 who was born in Tennessee. Rachel was, therefore, born about 1773, in Pennsylvania, was married before 1800 in Tennessee, and resided there until after 1809, not being listed in the census of Madison County in 1809.

According to Jones and Gandrud's Alabama Records Vol. 115, p. 52, William Lovelady "of Madison County" applied for land in that county in 1811. He is listed on the 1816 tax list of Madison County. William Lovelady was named in the act approved January 12, 1833 (Acts 1832-3 p. 49) as one of the first Commissioners on public buildings for Coosa County, and according to Brewer's History of Coosa County, Alabama Historical Quarterly 4, pp. 28-9, William was one of the few whites "scattered in different parts of the county, living among the Indians before the organization of the county" and lived near where Eclectic now stands. Brewer also states (Ibid, p. 80) that William Lovelady was one of the first officials of that county.

He, therefore, moved from Tennessee to Madison County, Alabama, after 1809; lived in Madison County until after 1816, and probably until after 1820, as he is not found in the census of Shelby County of 1820.

In Morgan County Deed Book B, p. 78, according to Mrs. Gandrud, there is recorded a power of attorney from William Lovelady of Bibb County, as guardian of Jane Lovelady to Benjamin Davis, Jr., empowering Davis "to receive from William Lovelady, Jr., Administrator of the estate of Stephen Lovelady, deceased of Morgan County, the share of Jane Lovelady, now Jane Davis. Dated 16 December 1828.

William Lovelady has not been found listed in any census of Shelby County so he probably lived in Bibb and Coosa Counties until he removed to Shelby County. He probably did not move until after 1840, since his will is on record in Shelby County. M.M.K.

Hulda Lindsey was probably the third child of David and Mary Lindsey. Little is known of her, as she was dead and her husband, Richard Crowson, had remarried before 1815.

Richard Crowson was listed in the census of 1809 of Madison County as having in his household one male and one female over 21; five males and six females under 21; and two slaves. He appeared on the tax lists of both Madison and Monroe Counties, Monroe then including all of what was later Shelby County. According to the Commissions Register (Alabama Historical Quarterly 6, p. 225) Richard Crowson was commissioned a Justice of the Peace of Shelby County on November 20, 1818. He was listed in the census of 1820 of Shelby County as having one male and one female over 21; four males and six females under 21.

He died in 1828, when his estate was settled, according to the First Record Book of Shelby County. This share of David Lindsey's estate was divided among the following heirs, they being the children of his first wife, Hulda Lindsey:

William Crowson
David Crowson, aged 55 - census of 1850
b. Tennessee
Aaron Crowson
Mary Crowson, wife of Samuel Sims
Rebecca Crowson, wife of John Mahan, Jr.
Sarah Crowson, wife of Elias Pitner
John Crowson
Thomas Crowson
Rachel T. Crowson, wife of John Marlow
Hulda Crowson, wife of Robert Fulton - m. 2)
Floyd C. Goodgame
Nancy Crowson
Joshua West Crowson

By his second wife, Sarah, Richard Crowson had:

Richard T. Crowson m. 3-10-1836 Rebecca Lindsey, probably daughter of Joseph Lindsey
Margaret H. Crowson m. Asa Billingslea
Martha Crowson

(The second wife, Sarah, married as her second husband, Edward Mahan. According to Shelby County deed records most of these later sold their interest in Richard Crowson's land to John Mahan.)

From the fact that this daughter was married about 1791-2 the date of her birth has been placed as about 1775. M.M.K.

Chapter 6 E. B. Teague - Hist. Shelby County

"The year 1818 witnessed continued strides in the more thorough organization of Baptist Churches in Alabama Territory. Cahaba Association organized 1818.

The organization took place at Cahaba Valley Church within what became Bibb County. Ten churches were represented at this meeting: Mulberry, Bethel, Enon, Ebenezer, Bethel (Tuscaloosa), Cahaba Valley, Union Alabama, (later Shiloh, Salem and Canaan).

Moses Crowson was the first Moderator and Willie David, first clerk. 259 members in 10 churches.

Ala. Baptist, Relig.

The Baptist constituted a church at Shoal Creek right where Mr. Jack Perry lives, in 1820. Moses Crowson and presently Joab Lawler ministered to it.

Min. Ala. Conference - Vol. II 1829-1839

Dec. 11, 1833 - Admitted on trial Richard Crowson.

"At Mt. Zion eight miles from Marion, 1837, an extraordinary meeting under the oversight of Rev. Wm. B. Neal, Rev. Richard M. Crowson, assisted by Rev. Ed H. Moore."

West's History of Methodism p. 533

John Lindsey, called "Jack" by his nephew, Mr. Fulton, was probably the fourth child. He has not been found to date in any census prior to 1820, when he was listed in Shelby County as having in his household one male over 21, no females over 21, two males and three females under 21. In other words, he was then a widower with five children.

According to Mr. W. F. Franke, the Monroe County census of 1816 lists him as having one male and one female over 21, two males and four females under 21, from which it would appear that he lost by death his wife and one daughter between 1816 and 1820.

In the census of 1830, of Shelby County, he is listed as aged 50-60, with males as follows: one under 5, one 5-10, and one 15-20; and with one female 30-40. The Shelby County marriage records show that John Lindsey married Feb. 2, 1827, Mary Skillman. He has not been found in the census of 1840 or 1850, so it is possible that he was one of those who migrated to Louisiana.

His estate was settled in Talladega County about 1852, from which it appears that his heirs were: John W. Lindsey, then of Tennessee; Joseph H. Lindsey of Talladega County (aged 38, b. Tenn. in the census of 1850 of Talladega County; Rachel, wife of David Reddin; Polly (or Nancy), wife of James Reddin; and Rebecca, wife of Allen Harmon (listed in the census of 1850 of Shelby County as aged 45, b. Alabama) -- these apparently being the children by his first wife.

Also, there were Elijah, James S., William Silas, Lydia Ann, and Sarah Savannah -- all, or nearly all, children of the last wife, Malinda. These last-named heirs seem to have removed with Malinda to Louisiana and are lost so far as this sketch is concerned.

John Lindsey seems to have been the last surviving trustee of the Trinan Land Company of Madison County (See Jones and Gandrud's Alabama Records 111, p. 74) and to have owned land in several counties. He seems to have lived at one time in Bibb County where he obtained a judgment in 1834 in the Circuit Court against one King, upon which execution was issued in Talladega County (Ibid 83, p. 37).

Since John Lindsey was aged 50-60 in 1830, he was born 1770-1780. I have, tentatively, placed him as born about 1777. M.M.K.

John Lindsey was administrator of David Lindsey's estate.

After 1823

Lydia Canterbury was a widow when the estate of David Lindsey, her father, was divided and the name of her husband was not known. Her marriage is not listed among those of Madison County and an analysis of David Lindsey's household as given in the 1809 census makes it appear that she had married before that date.

Jones & Gandrud's Alabama Records Vol. 50 contains abstracts of the minutes of the Bethel Baptist Church of Tuscaloosa County, Alabama, from which it appears that on the Saturday before the third Lord's Day in September, 1823, "Sister Lyda Canterbury" was received by letter. At a meeting on Saturday before the first Lord's Day in October of the same year "Brother John Canterbury" was received by letter. An entry on Friday before the first Lord's Day in December, 1823, states that the church received also "John Canterbury by letter". Whether there were two men named John Canterbury or just one entered twice is not clear but apparently there were two. On April 3, 1824, application was made to the church by another "for a letter of dismissal for Brother Canterbury and was granted."

There are but two other Canterbury items in this volume. On Sept. 2, 1826, Brother Robert Guttery and his wife of Walker County and members of the church have been illegally baptized by John Canterbury, when said Canterbury was in disorder, therefore such baptism is declared void, and they were baptized again. And on 10 Nov. 1823, the marriage of Abigail Canterbury to Edward Hocut is recorded.

Because of the occurrence of the names of Lydia Canterbury and John Canterbury, Lydia Lindsey probably married John Canterbury.

Shelby County Deed Book J page 17, shows a deed, dated 21 May, 1847, from Lydia Canterbury of Mississippi, county of residence not stated, to Edmond King of Shelby County, conveying her claim to land in Shelby County. This deed makes it more probable that the Lydia, or Lyda Canterbury of Bethel Church was the daughter of David Lindsey.

Elizabeth Lindsey was probably the sixth child of David and Mary Lindsey.

Joseph Hail, also spelled 'Hale' and 'Hayle', her husband, received the part of one child from the estate of David Lindsey. He is listed in both the census of 1830 and of 1840 as aged 50-60 with his wife always the same age. Since she seems to have been younger than Thomas and John and since both these returns cannot be correct, I am accepting the census of 1840 as the correct one and have tentatively placed her birth at about 1781.

Joseph Hail is not found in the census of 1809, or in the tax list of 1815-6, but neither does Elizabeth appear as a possible unmarried daughter at home in 1809, since the census of 1850 lists one of her children as born in Tennessee, and then aged 53, it would make this child born about 1797. I am, therefore, tentatively placing Elizabeth as born about 1781 and married in Tennessee about 1796.

Joseph Hail is first listed in the 1820 census of Shelby County, with three males and two females under 21. His estate was settled in Shelby County in 1843, and divided among Sarah Elliott, widow of Amos Elliott, Jr.; Mary Elliott, wife of William Elliott and brother of Amos Elliott Jr., married in Madison County, 7-20-1813;

Ann Lightfoot;

Elizabeth, wife of Thomas L. Bailey;

Lindsey Hail;

Squire Hail;

Rachel Payne, wife of Alva Payne; and

Elijah Lindsey - This son is probably the seventh of David and Mary Lindsey's children. He was listed in the census of 1830 of Shelby County as aged 40-50 which would make him born 1780-1790. Since his father in the census of 1809 is listed with three males (himself and two others) over 21 in his household, and since Elijah's marriage in 1811 seems to have been his first, Elijah must have been one of the males in that household in 1809, the other being Joseph who married in 1815. Since Elizabeth, as shown above, was married about 1796, when, if born about 1781, would mean that she married at fifteen, it seems more probable that she was born in 1781 than that Elijah was. Therefore, I have placed him as born about 1783.

Elijah married first in Madison County, Nov. 29, 1811, Polly Harrison -- a fact which is confirmed by the J. H. B. Hall papers, in which a grandson states that his grandfather, Elijah Lindsey married Polly Harrison, a cousin of President Harrison. By her, he had David H. (Harrison?) Lindsey, who married Nancy Cross; Eleanor, who married John W. Naish; Elijah, who married Mary T. Naish; and Martha, who married Richmond C. Cross.

Elijah Lindsey's second wife was named Mary, but her surname is unknown. By her he had Mary, Benjamin B., Catherine and Margaret. After his death this wife married as her second husband, Randolph C. Canterbury, who was apparently many years her junior, according to the census of 1840, and by 1845 she had removed with him and her Lindsey children to Winston County, Mississippi.

Elijah Lindsey bought from the United States the following lands:

$E\frac{1}{2}$ SE $\frac{1}{4}$ Sec. 8, W $\frac{1}{2}$ SW $\frac{1}{4}$ Sec. 9, T 21S R 3W in 1821 and
 $E\frac{1}{2}$ SW $\frac{1}{4}$ Sec. 9, T 21S R 3W in 1825

The land upon which he lived until his death. Later the land was sold to Richard T. Crowson, who sold it to the Laceys. This land was two miles north of David Lindsey's land -- and contains the cemetery mentioned by Lindsey Fulton to Dr. J. H. B. Hall. This, therefore, is the land upon which David Lindsey was buried. Elijah Lindsey was no doubt buried there too.

$E\frac{1}{2}$ NW $\frac{1}{4}$ Sec. 28 T 21 R 3W

David Lindsey - More is known of this eighth child than of most of the others in this family. The census of 1850 gives his birthplace as Virginia. The tombstone in the cemetery at Sylacauga, Alabama states that he died March 9, 1855, aged 70 years. That would place his birth as 1785.

While much is known of him he is somewhat of an enigma too. There is no proof of this theory but it is believed that he married first in Tennessee while the family was living there. He is not listed in the 1809 census of Madison County, nor was he apparently at his father's house at that time since those in the household seem so well accounted for.

David Lindsey (Jr.) married in Madison County, January 1, 1820 Martha S. Crouch; the wife of David Lindsey of Talladega County was Martha Susan; David Lindsey, Jr., is listed, however, separately in the tax list of 1816 of Madison County as head of his household, and separately from his father, though the first marriage record in Madison County for any David Lindsey is the one mentioned above. It is therefore apparent that David Lindsey was married prior to his marriage to Martha Susan Crouch.

The census of 1820 of Madison County is lost but David Lindsey (Jr.) was not listed in Shelby or any of the other counties of which the census returns of 1820 are extant. The 1830 census of Madison County, however, lists him as aged 40-50 and as having in his household one female of the same age, and one female aged 15-20. In 1840, he is listed in Talladega County, aged 50-60, his wife aged 40-50 (chivalrous man!) and with one male aged 20-30 in his household, probably a nephew then with him. In the 1850 census of Talladega County, he is listed as aged 63, born in Virginia, and wife, Martha S. aged 51 (!) also born in Virginia. Her tombstone recites that she died 20 December 1861, aged 74, which would make her born in 1787.

Taking these various facts together, there can be no doubt that he continued to reside in Madison County until after 1830, and then removed to Talladega County, where he acquired from the United States, along with his brother James (see post) the land upon which the town of Sylacauga was built. His tombstone states, "He was a volunteer soldier in the War of 1814". M.M.K.

In addition to Mrs. Ann E. J. Wilson and her children will names Joseph H. Lindsey, John W. Lindsey, and her nephew Larkin S. White.

Mary Lindsey - Another who received a child's share of the estate of David Lindsey was Mary's husband, Patrick Smith. Neither he nor his wife was listed by Lindsey Fulton among the children or sons-in-law of David Lindsey, which suggests that Mr. Fulton was not thrown with them. But the fact that both Mary and Patrick were living is proved by the fact that he received that share.

Among the early marriage records of Talladega County is one of Rebecca Smith to James Kelly, April 1, 1835, with the consent of her father, Patrick Smith. Patrick Smith is not listed in any Shelby or Talladega census returns, nor has he been found in Bibb County. It has been shown, supra, that Rachel Lindsey and her husband, William Lovelady, were settled in Coosa County while the Indians were still there and that William Lovelady was one of the first Courthouse Commissioners of that county. It will be shown, post, that James Lindsey also settled in Coosa County. Therefore, search was made in Coosa County for Patrick Smith.

Brewer's History of Coosa County, published in the Alabama Historical Quarterly, Vol. 4, states that James Lindsey and Patrick Smith were among the white people who settled in what became known as Hanover Beat while the Indians were still there. (pp. 90-1). Also, he lists among the early militia officers of that county, William Smith, commissioned Sept. 29, 1834, and David Smith, commissioned Sept. 18, 1840 (Ibid, pp 129-130). On August 31, 1839, in Coosa County, Patrick Smith consented to the marriage of his daughter, Mary, to William H. Coleman.

The census of 1850 of Coosa County lists Patrick Smith as aged 63, born in Tennessee; his wife, Mary, aged 62, born also in Tennessee; and also lists in that county, James Kelly, aged 40, born in Georgia; wife, Rebecca, aged 37, born in Alabama; children-- John, aged 13; Elizabeth, 10; Mary, 8; Sarah, 6; Frances, 5; James, 3; and David, 1 -- which seems to tie this Patrick to the Rebecca who married James Kelly in Talladega County in 1834. Listed in the household of Patrick and Mary Smith in 1850, were Patrick Smith, aged 22, born in Alabama; and John Harmon, aged 3, born in Alabama. (Grandchild?)

There is also listed one Guy Smith, aged 40, born in Tennessee, in this same neighborhood with Patrick Smith and James Lindsey and James Kelly, who was probably also a son of Patrick and Mary (Lindsey) Smith. If so, Patrick Smith and Mary Lindsey married in Tennessee, which accounts for his not being found in the census of 1809 of Madison County, and for her not being included among those then in her father's household.

Joseph Lindsey - Listed in David Lindsey's household in 1809 were three males over 21 and one male under 21. We know definitely that the male under 21 was James so that leaves only Joseph for the other male over 21. Therefore, he was born about 1788 at the latest, and in Tennessee.

Joseph married in Madison County, March 28, 1815, Vina Landman (or Landham), and first appears in the Shelby County census of 1820 with one male and one female over 21, one male and two females under 21. He is not found thereafter, but was living when his father's estate was divided. The Rebecca Lindsey who married Richard T. Crowson on March 18, 1836, in Shelby County must have been his daughter. The census of 1850 of Shelby County lists her as aged 28, born in Alabama.

1830 census of Shelby County - not listed

James Lindsey - The tombstone of James Lindsey at Hanover in Coosa County states that he was born April 12, 1791 and died February 14, 1846. He was living, therefore, when the estate of David Lindsey was settled, and is listed as receiving his share. His wife was named Martha, but her surname is not known as yet. They had but one child, William M. Lindsey, who married in Coosa County, October 11, 1842, Martha E. Calfee. He is listed in the census of 1850 of that county as aged 29, born in Alabama.

James Lindsey first appears in the census of 1830 of Shelby County, when he is given as aged 30-40, wife the same age, and one male aged 5-10. The census of 1840 of Coosa County lists him and his wife as aged 40-50, with one male 15-20. His widow, Martha Lindsey, married in Shelby County as her second husband, Joseph Wood, on February 18, 1847, and removed with him to Bibb County. Shelby County Deed Book J at page 270 records a deed dated November 15, 1848, from William M. Lindsey of Coosa County, as Administrator of the estate of James Lindsey, deceased, and Martha T. Wood of Bibb County, Alabama, "late widow of said J. Lindsey, deceased", conveying land owned by the deceased James Lindsey in Shelby County. The Shelby County Tract Book also shows the purchase from the United States by James Lindsey of other land in Shelby County on February 19, 1825.

Brewer's History of Coosa County, supra, has several references to James Lindsey. On page 28, it is stated that he was one of the whites who resided in the county while the Indians were there, and that he lived in the Hanover neighborhood, as did Patrick Smith, and that William Lovelady lived near where Eclectic now stands. This places at least three children of David Lindsey (Sr.) in that county before the Indians left.

On page 31, mention is made of the fact that James Lindsey, Joseph B. Cleveland and Robert W. Cleveland were authorized by the State Legislature, by an act approved January 9, 1833, to open a road from the lower end of Wetumpka Falls to the store of Joseph B. Cleveland at Sylacauga, two years being allowed for the completion of the road, after which tolls could be collected. This road, called "The Turnpike" was the first road authorized into Talladega County from the south As we have seen above, James Lindsey bought from the United States part of the land upon which the town of Sylacauga was laid out, his brother David buying the adjoining land.

Brewer also mentions (p. 41) that at the August Term, 1837, the court of County Commissioners ordered the survey of the new road from Sockapatoy to the Weogufka Town House, to run by James Lindsey's house, and to be surveyed by David Crowson, James Lindsey, John Smith and others. An early voting beat or precinct was established at his house (p. 42). It is also stated:

"Lindsey was a man in good circumstances, and early built a good home on the Turnpike, afterwards owned by John A. Pylant, and then by Jasper McAdory, who still lives there. In 1838, Lindsey built a still better home a mile or more on the road from the place sold to Pylant toward Sylacauga. This was a well-finished two-story house, the best in all the upper part of the county. It had good guttering with the date of the structure upon it. This afterward became the home of Isaac Willingham, a much loved citizen, who was murdered by one of his slaves during the war The place was afterward occupied by Benjamin Kimbrough who married a daughter of Isaac Willingham, who bought it from Lindsey." (p.90).

"Further toward Rockford in the valley on the west side of the creek was Mr. Wood, stepfather of William M. Lindsey, long well-known and loved in the county. He was the son of James Lindsey of Hanover. Wood died and for years Lindsey, his mother and his family lived on his fine old farm; but afterward he lived at Central Institute; and from there he moved on the Jackson Trace, where he lived until his removal to Texas in 1868. Lindsey married a daughter of Evan Calfee who lived on an adjoining farm on the opposite side of the creek." pp. 93-4.

"John A. Pylant was a native of Tennessee and moved to Coosa about 1840. He bought the home of James Lindsey His wife was sister or near kinswoman of Mrs. Lindsey, and was long and widely known as "Aunt Mary Pylant", noted for her good table and especially her fine coffee. Pylant was a successful farmer and has a good orchard. He entertained a great deal of company in such good style as to invite people to share it."

Rebecca Lindsey - The twelfth and youngest child of David and Mary Lindsey was Rebecca, wife of David Fulton, who received her share of her father's estate. According to her son, she was born, Nov. 17, 1794. The census of 1850 of Shelby County lists him as aged 53, born in North Carolina, son of Samuel Fulton, who later lived in Madison County, Alabama. Rebecca is listed as aged 54, born in Tennessee. Also in the household were James M. Fulton, aged 24, David E. Fulton aged 21, and Eliza 14, all born in Alabama. The marriage records of Madison County show David Fulton and Rebecca Lindsey were married in that county 30 July, 1816.

David Fulton is not listed in the census of 1820 of Shelby County, but is listed in the census of 1830 with two males under 5, and one female under five, one male and three females aged 10-15, and he and his wife 30-40. He is found in the census of 1850 as stated above.

The Shelby County Tract Book shows that he bought
E¹/₂ SW¹/₄ Sec. 21 T 21S R 3W
from the United States in 1825, with other land bought later.

Other children, according to the J. H. B. Hall papers, were:

Samuel, aged 31 in the 1850 census, born in Alabama, who married Nancy C. Nabors;
Martha T. Fulton, who married Thomas Essman on October 31, 1844;
Mary Fulton, who married Eldridge Brown;
Angeline Fulton, who married Charles B. Elliott on December 13, 1846; (her husband's mother was Sarah Hall, granddaughter of David Lindsey)
Rebecca, who died in infancy; and Elijah Lindsey Fulton, born Feb. 9, 1835, married Feb. 4, 1858 Martha Ann Nabors. He was the authority for much of Dr. Hall's data.

Four of David Lindsey's great grandchildren are still living -- all grandchildren of Rebecca Lindsey Fulton's. They are:

David Edwin Fulton's two sons --

David H. Fulton, Bessemer, Alabama
William Fulton, Birmingham, Alabama

James Fulton's daughter --

Mrs. Kate Adkins, Erin, Tennessee

Elijah Lindsey Fulton's youngest daughter -

Mrs. Leila Fulton Goodwin, Birmingham

From them more data concerning the Fulton family of later generations should be obtainable but for this sketch it was not attempted. Mrs. Goodwin, wife of a Presbyterian minister, was absent from the state for many years, living where his work was. She recalled a few items of interest which will be recorded here.

John Fulton, the oldest child, together with Samuel and their families moved to Bibb County but the other brothers lived around Elliottsville with lands forming part of the Lindsey estate. "Ann" and her husband, Charles B. Elliott gave the land for Elliottsville. Only the cemetery and church remain today-the nearby village is called 'Siluria'.

Mrs. Goodwin remembers James Fulton as having ten children; David Edwin, nine; and Elijah Lindsey Fulton, the youngest, eleven. He was married to Martha Ann Nabors at her father's home.

Mrs. Goodwin's niece, Mrs. Justina Fulton Whittington, placed a marker recently at the grave of Rebecca and David Fulton in the Elliottsville Cemetery. She and her brother, John Edward Fulton live near Saginaw, Alabama, but know little of the Lindsey family, depending mainly on "Aunt Leila" for the past.

"On the west side of Hatchett Creek and north of Rockford is the region known as Hanover Beat. The settlers here who lived among the Indians were Alexander Logan and James Lindsey, father of W. M. Lindsey. Lindsey was a man in good circumstances and early built a good home on the Turnpike, afterwards owned by John A. Pylant and then by Jasper McAdory who still lives there. In 1838, Lindsey built a still better home a mile or more on the road from the place sold to Pylant towards Sylacauga. This was a well-furnished, two-story house, the best in the upper part of the county. It had good guttering with the date of the structure upon it. This afterwards became the home of Benjamin Kimbrough who married a daughter of Isaac Willingham who bought it from Lindsey. Kimbrough's widow still lives there."

Weogufka Town was on the creek of the same name in what was the Lindsey plantation, near where Weogufka church has so long stood.".... "There have been a few whites scattered in different parts of the country, but the names of but few are known. Among them James Lindsey was in Hanover neighborhood. William Lovelady was near where Eclectic now stands."

Ibid p. 41 - At the August term of court 1837, the commissioners ordered a new road from Sockapatoy to the Weogufka Town House to run by the house of James Lindsey where Hanover now is. The reviewers were:

Wm. B. Moore, David Crowson, John Council, Jno. Smith, James Lindsey, Albert G. Wall, David Mitchell.

1838 - Richard Stewart and A. H. Rippetoe were proprietors of the turnpike in April, 1838 and the road was reported by James Lindsey and A. Chancellor to the court to be in condition required to collect tolls.

Ibid - P. 94 - In the valley on the west side of the creek (Weogufka Creek) toward Rockford was Mr. Wood, step-father of Wm. M. Lindsey, long well-known and loved in the county. He was the son of James Lindsey of Hanover. Wood died and for years Lindsey, his mother and his family lived on their fine old farm; but afterwards he lived at Central Institute; and from there he moved on the Jackson Trace where he lived till his removal to Texas in 1868. Lindsey married a daughter of Evan Calfee who lived on an adjoining farm on the opposite side of the creek."

In April 1818, the Presiding Elder of the Nashville Dist. of the Tenn. Conference removed Rev. Ebenezer Hearn from Flint Circuit and sent him forth to preach and organize Societies in that part of Alabama so recently taken from the Creek Indians. Bro. Hearn set out from Ditto's Landing for the new field. He went first to Jones Valley and Falls of the Cahawba to Centerville, thence north and "on Sunday he attended a love feast and sacramental service at the residence of Obed Lovelady near Wilson's Hill, the place now known as Montevallo. He says, "Here I organized the first Society I have formed on my mission and here I had my first quarterly meeting".

The place where this first Society was organized and this first meeting was held was about one mile south of the present town of Montevallo. In this community near Wilson's Hill, Brother Hearn found four local Methodist preachers: Joseph Walker, Drury Powell, Joseph D. Lee, and Joshua West, M.D.

Round about Montevallo, Methodism has been strong and influential through all the years that have elapsed."

The War of 1812 may have been the National event that brought the Lindseys to Shelby County. They were living in Madison County at the time and in Armes, The Story of Coal and Iron in Alabama, p. 23¹ is this account: "Following the good fight at New Orleans, one party of soldiers composed of 18 members under the leadership of Major Jonathan Mahan, decided to follow the Indian trails home. Among them were James and Edward Mahan, Linzeys, Fanchers, Massengales, Ragans, and Smiths. When they reached the confluence of three creeks, those known today as Mahan, Shoal, and Wayberry Creeks, 12 of the company remained; 6 with a few Indian Traders continued their way to the Cumberland Valley for their wives and children, returning with a small gathering of friends, they founded on the fertile site of the little Indian Village, the settlement known as Briarfield and gave to the broad and flowing creek the name Mahan Creek." P. 23

Here was the neighborhood of some of the earliest mills and forges of Alabama. Later in the same volume we find the following: "there was a forge later known as Thompson's mill, two miles west of Montevallo in the edge of Shelby County on Shoal Creek. It appears a Mr. Lindsey built or owned the forge." P. 74
